

Which Planet?

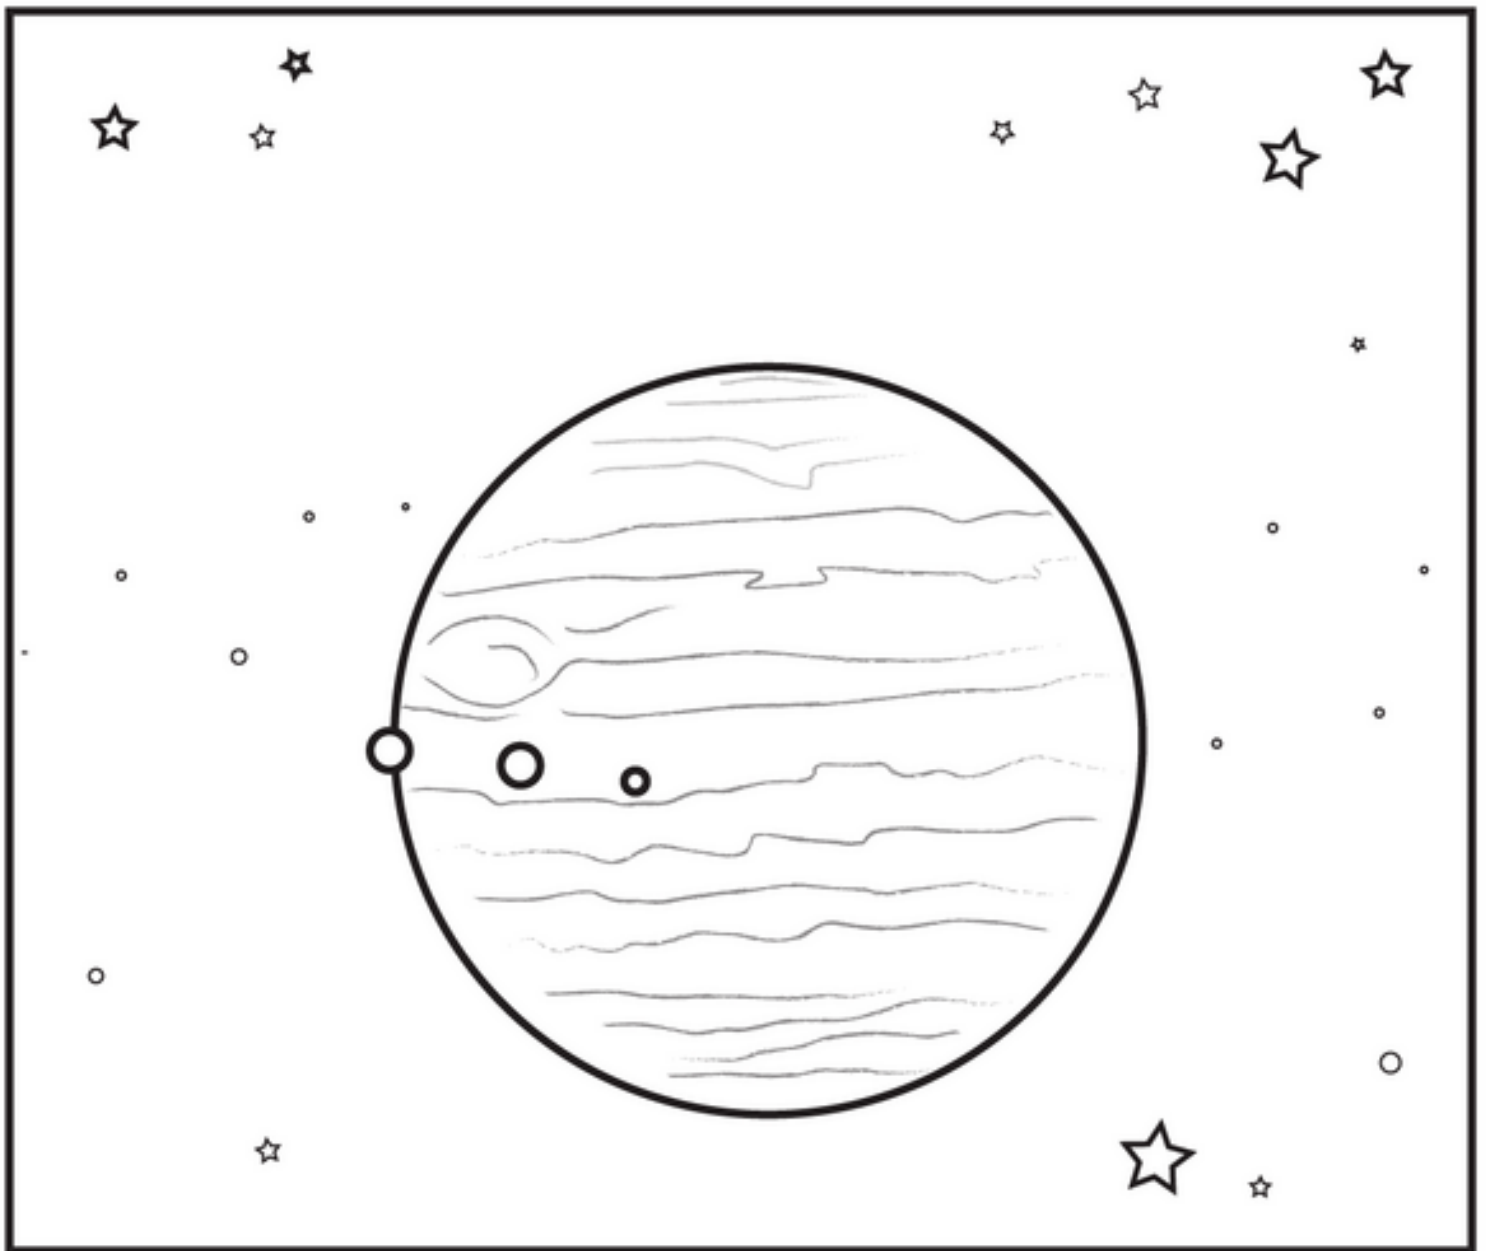

Which planet is a giant ball of gas and is farthest from the sun?

Which planet has at least eleven moons and is the fourth largest one?

It has traces of methane gas, making it look blue to us at night.

It's the eighth planet from the sun. If you said Neptune, you'd be right.

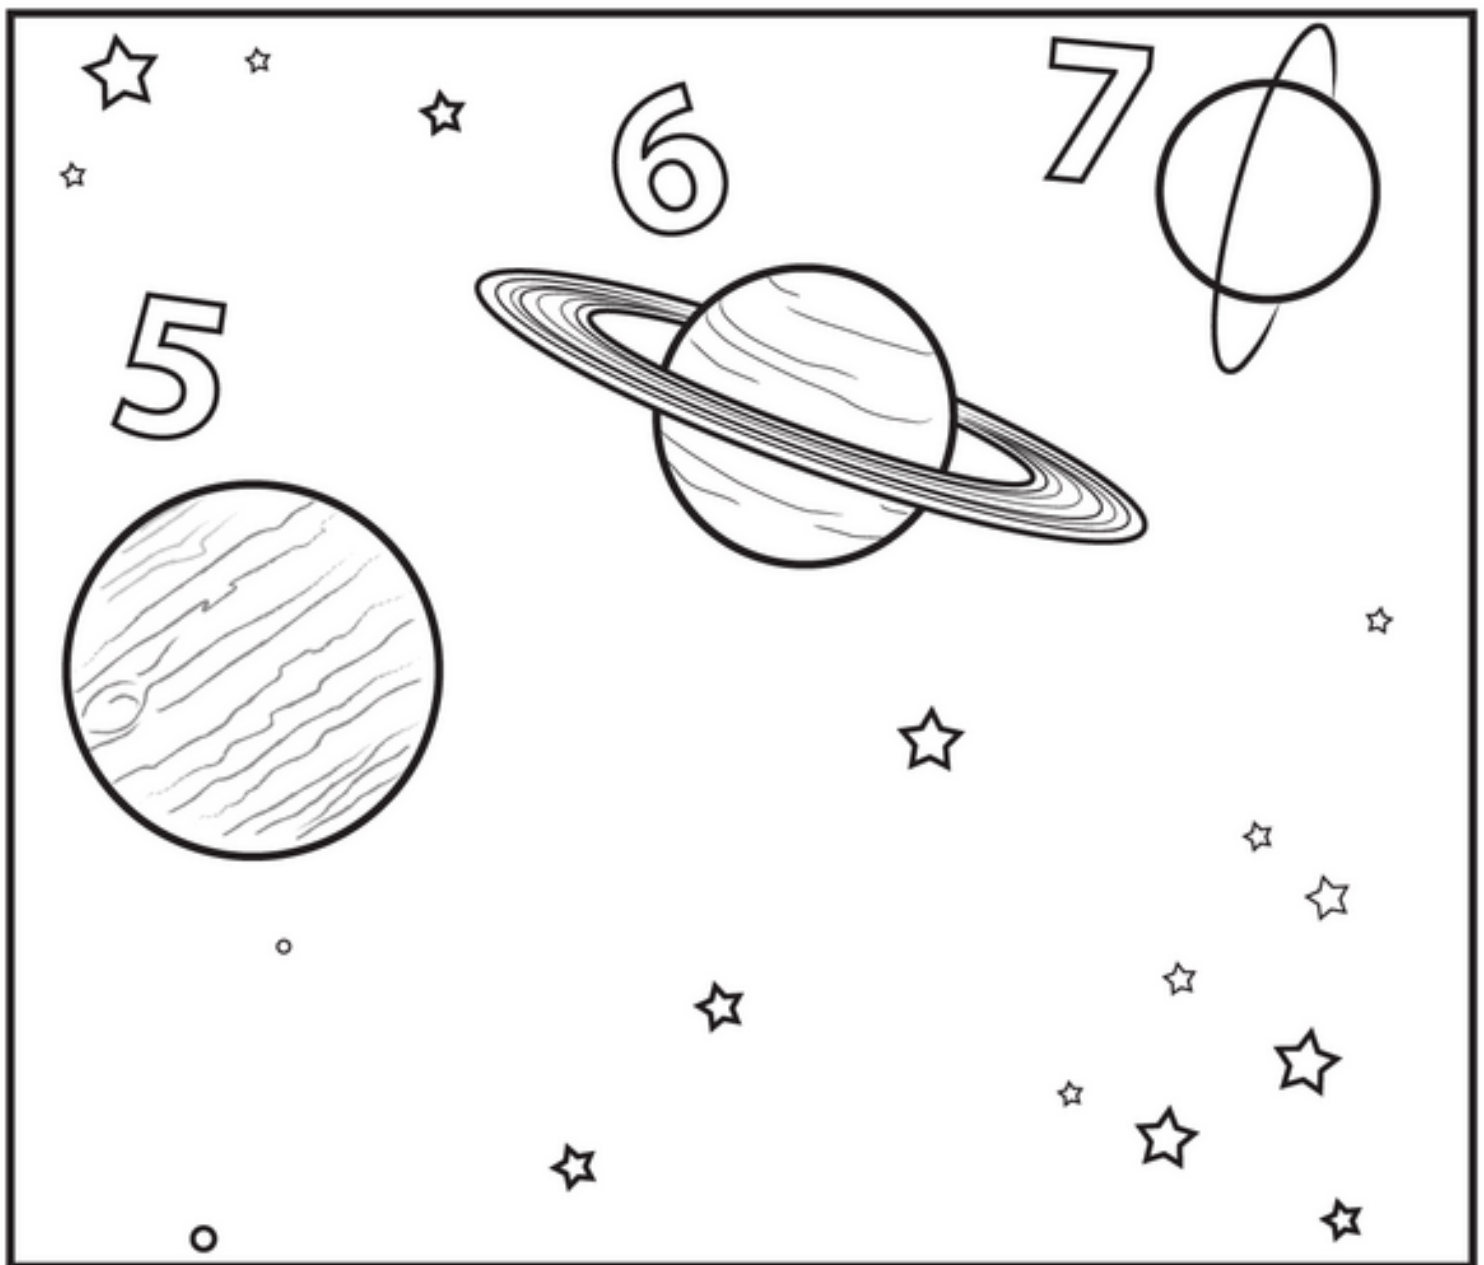

Which planet has more than sixty moons and is also mostly made of gas?

Hydrogen and helium make up most of its atmosphere's mass.

Which planet is the largest and fifth planet from the sun?

Eleven times larger across than the Earth, Jupiter is the one.

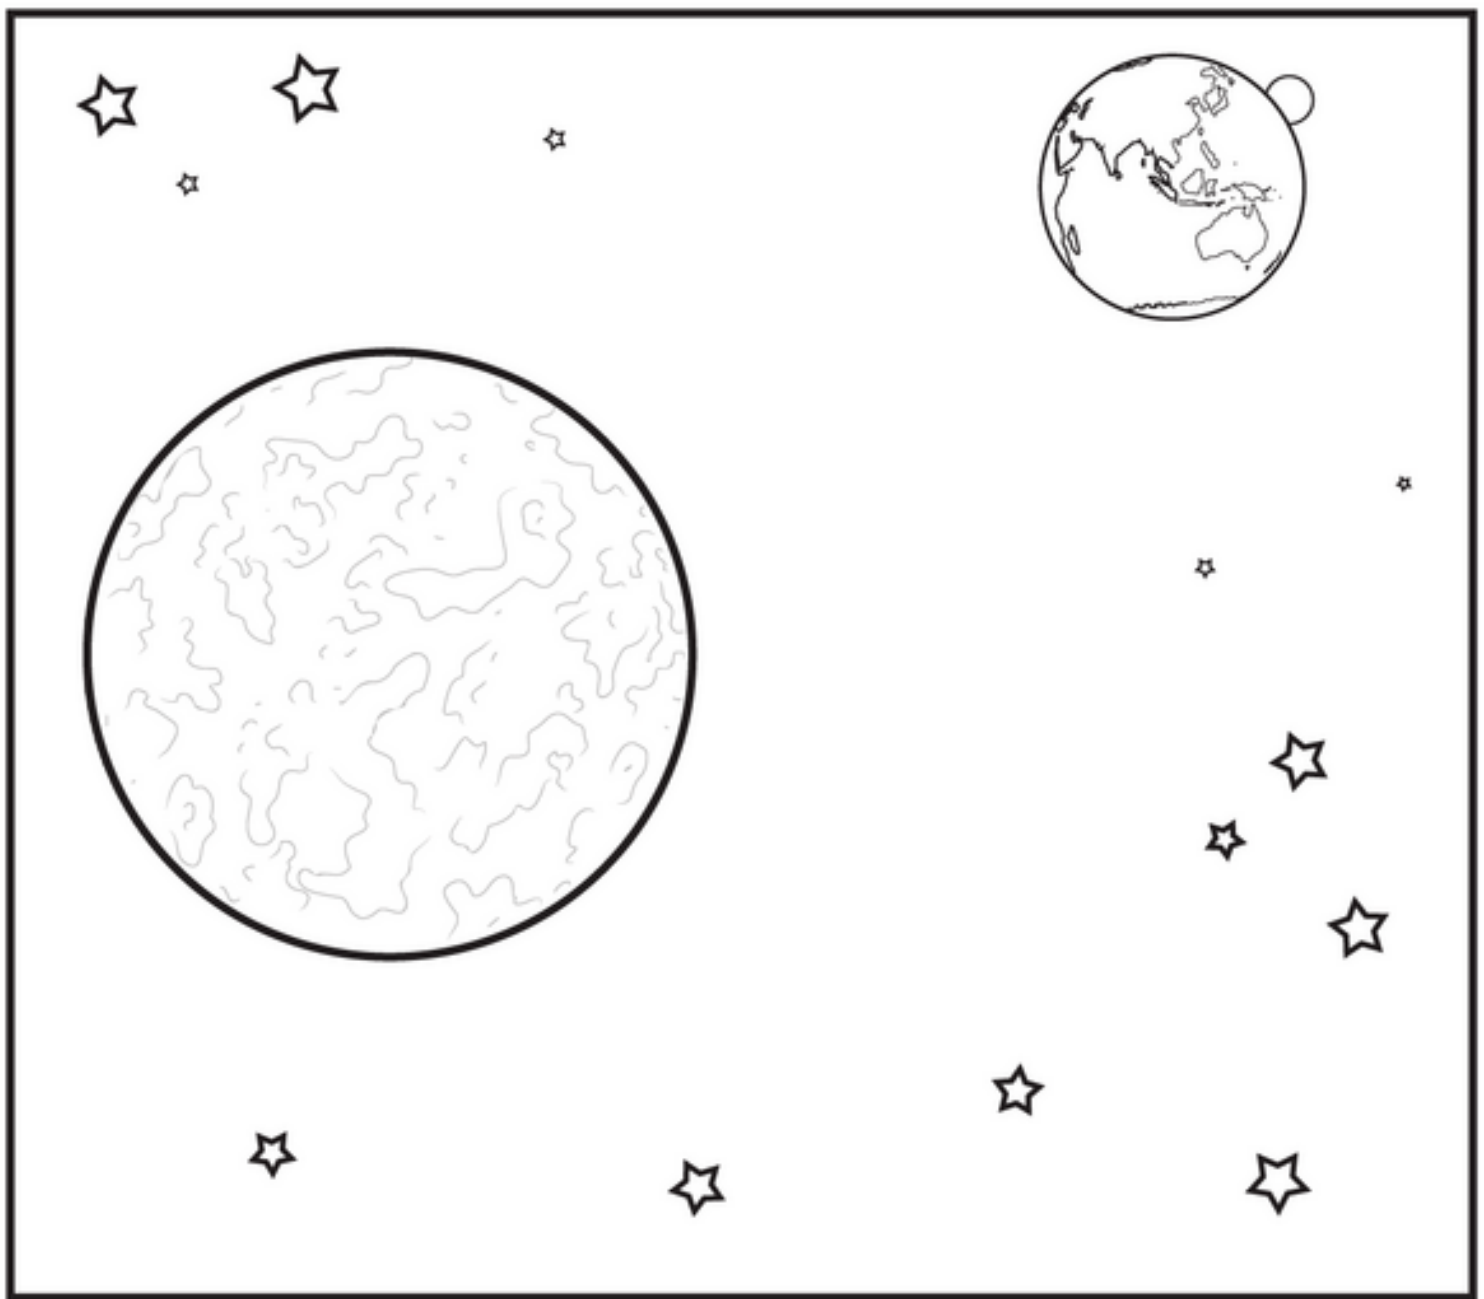

Which planet is ten times bigger than the Earth and the sixth planet from the sun?

Some say it's the most beautiful. Searching for planets can be fun.

Which planet has seven thin rings made of ice and rocky debris.

Which planet is the second largest? It would be Saturn, you see.

Which planet shines very low in the western sky at night?

Which planet has thick, reflective clouds and is very, very bright?

Which planet is called Earth's sister planet, but it's also very hot?

If you said it was the planet Venus, you've found the right spot.

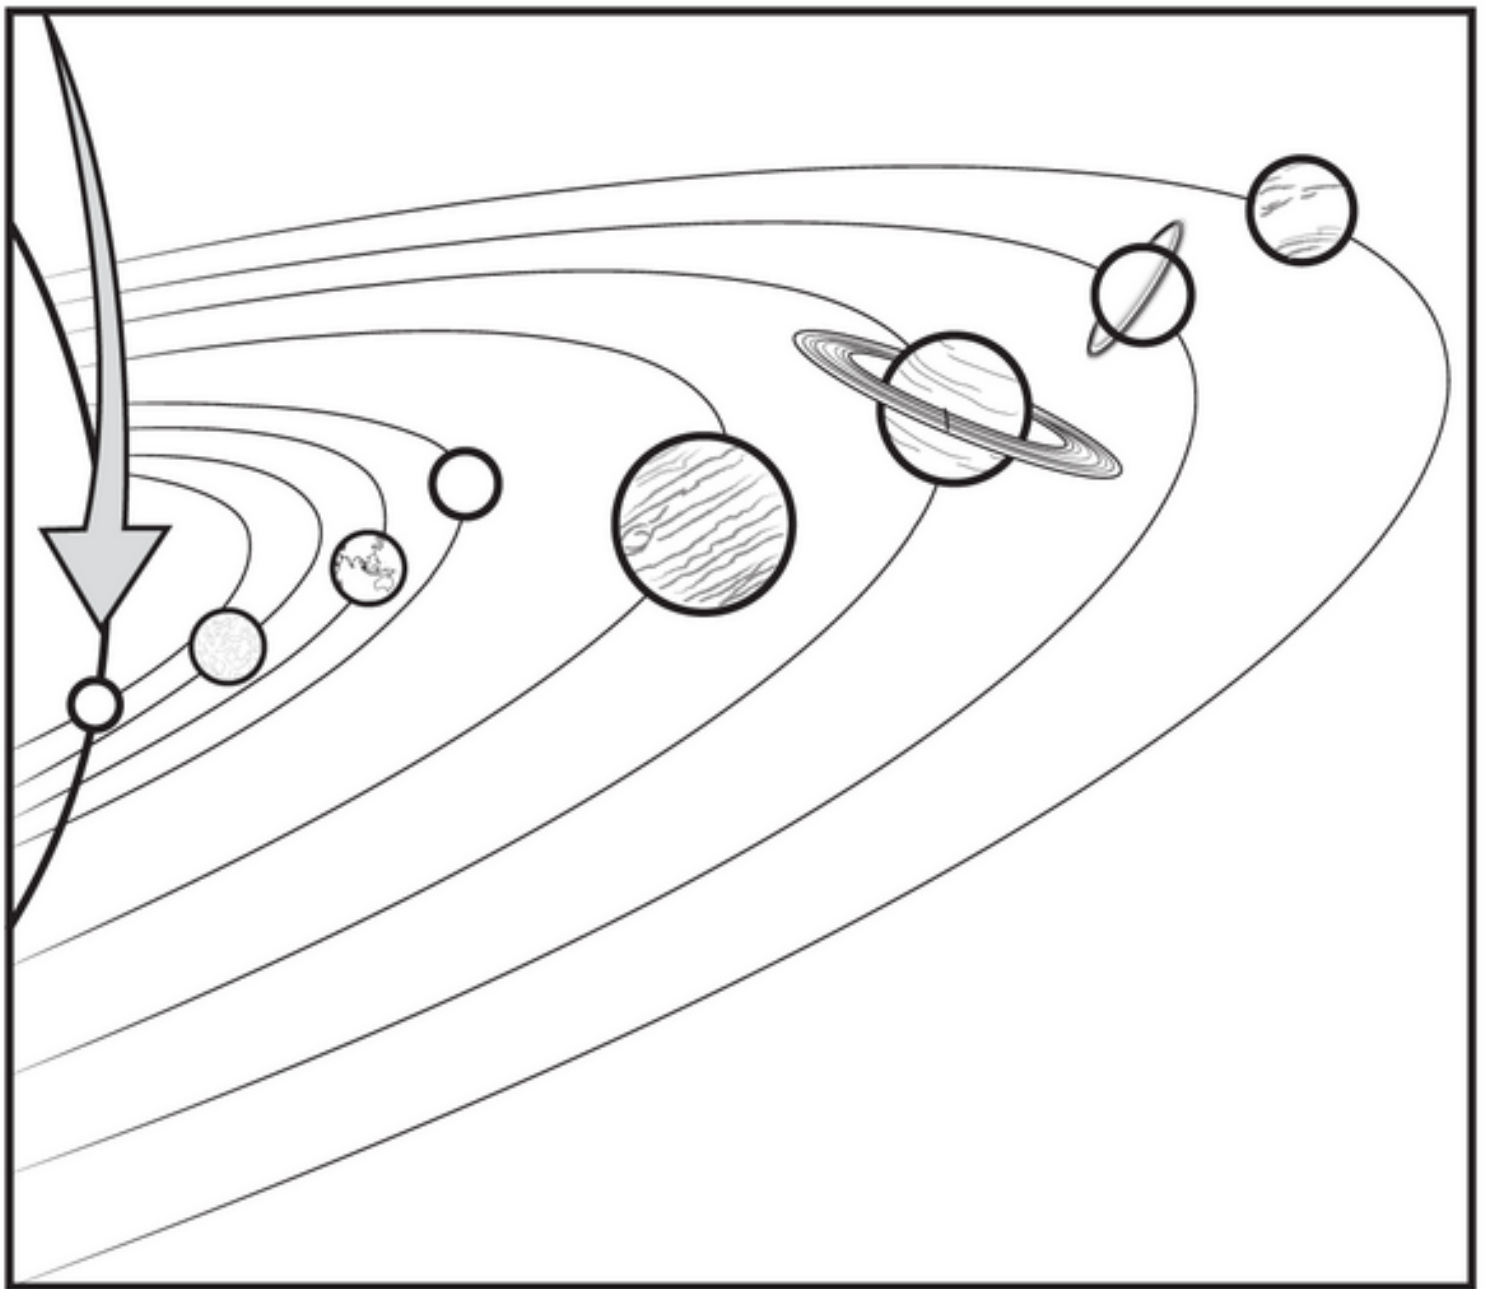

Which planet in our solar system appears to rotate on its side?

Which planet was the first planet that with a telescope was spied?

Which planet is the third largest planet and looks blue-green from here?

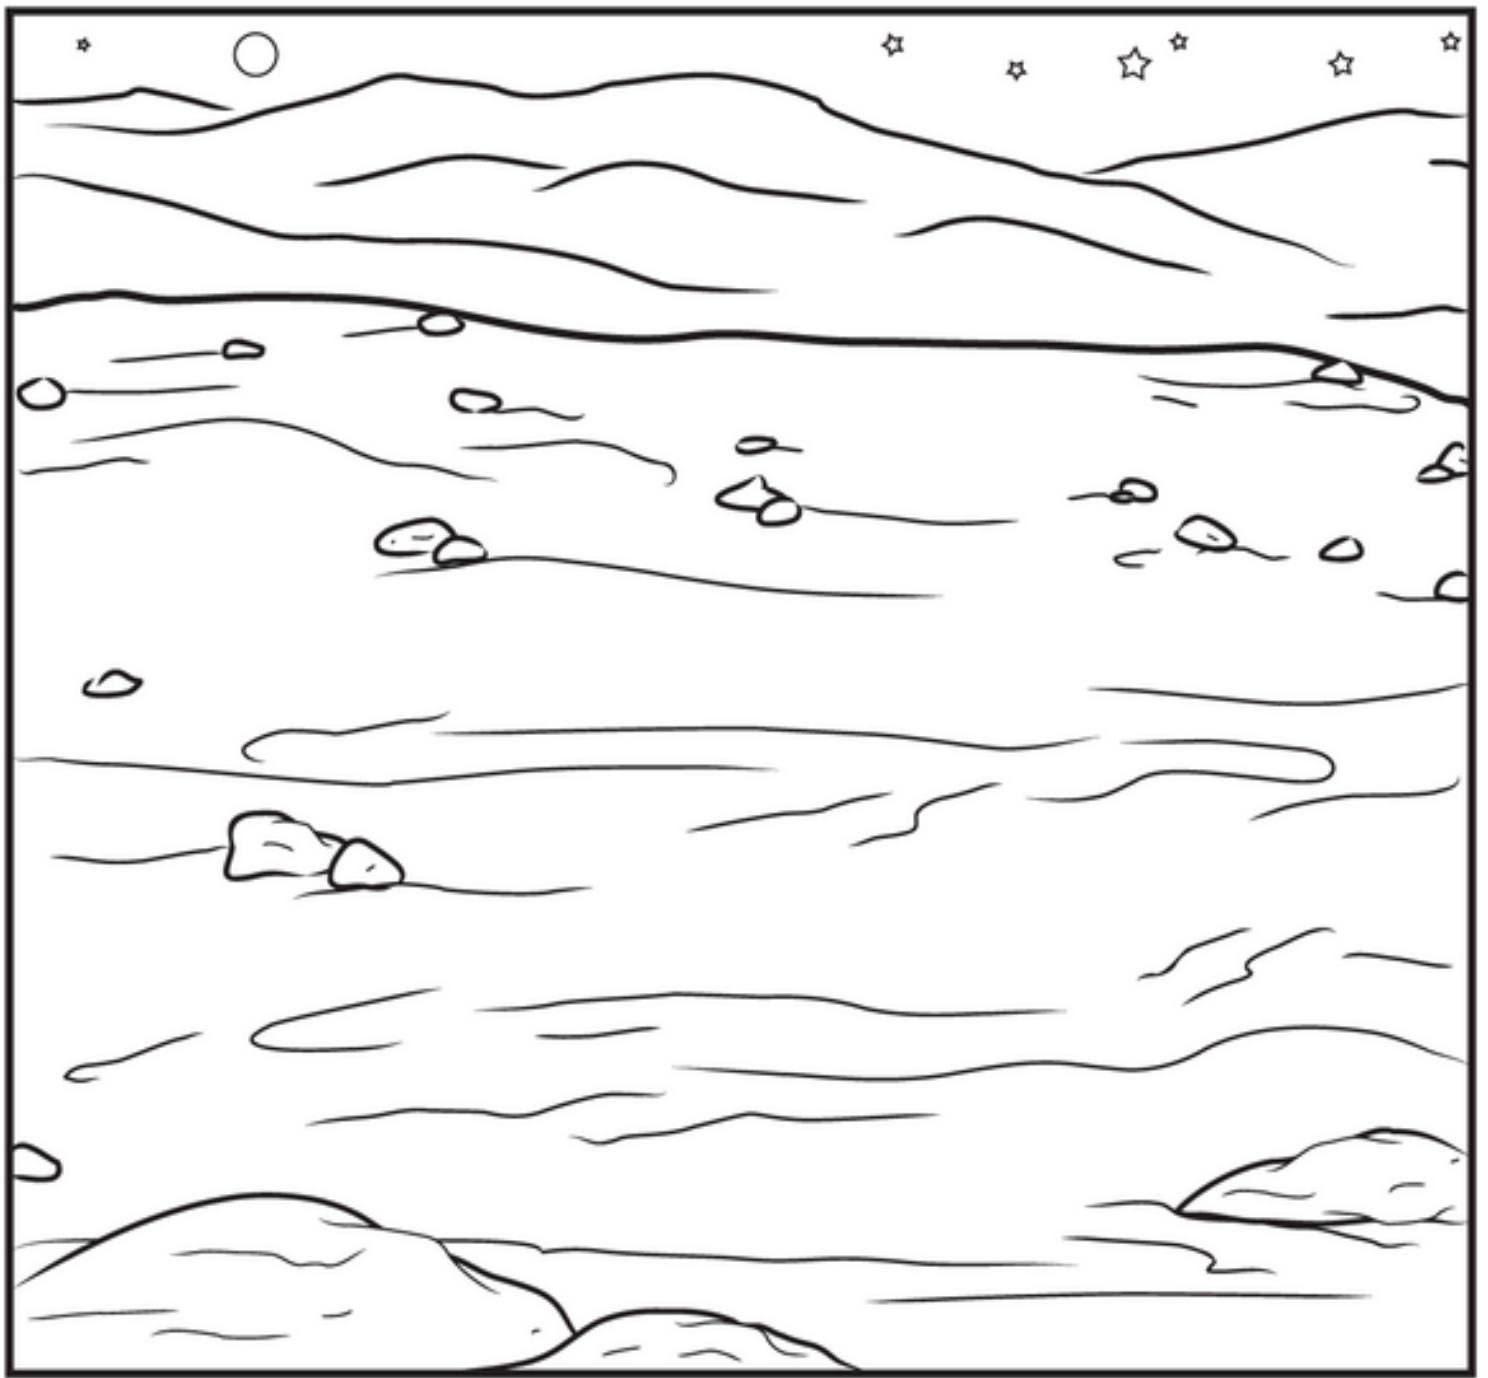

If you said Uranus, you're right again. We'll give you a cheer.

Which planet has many craters and in the daytime gets real hot, but when the sun goes down at night becomes an ice-cold spot?

Which planet is so close to the sun that it's very difficult to see?

Which planet is closest to the sun? That would be Mercury.

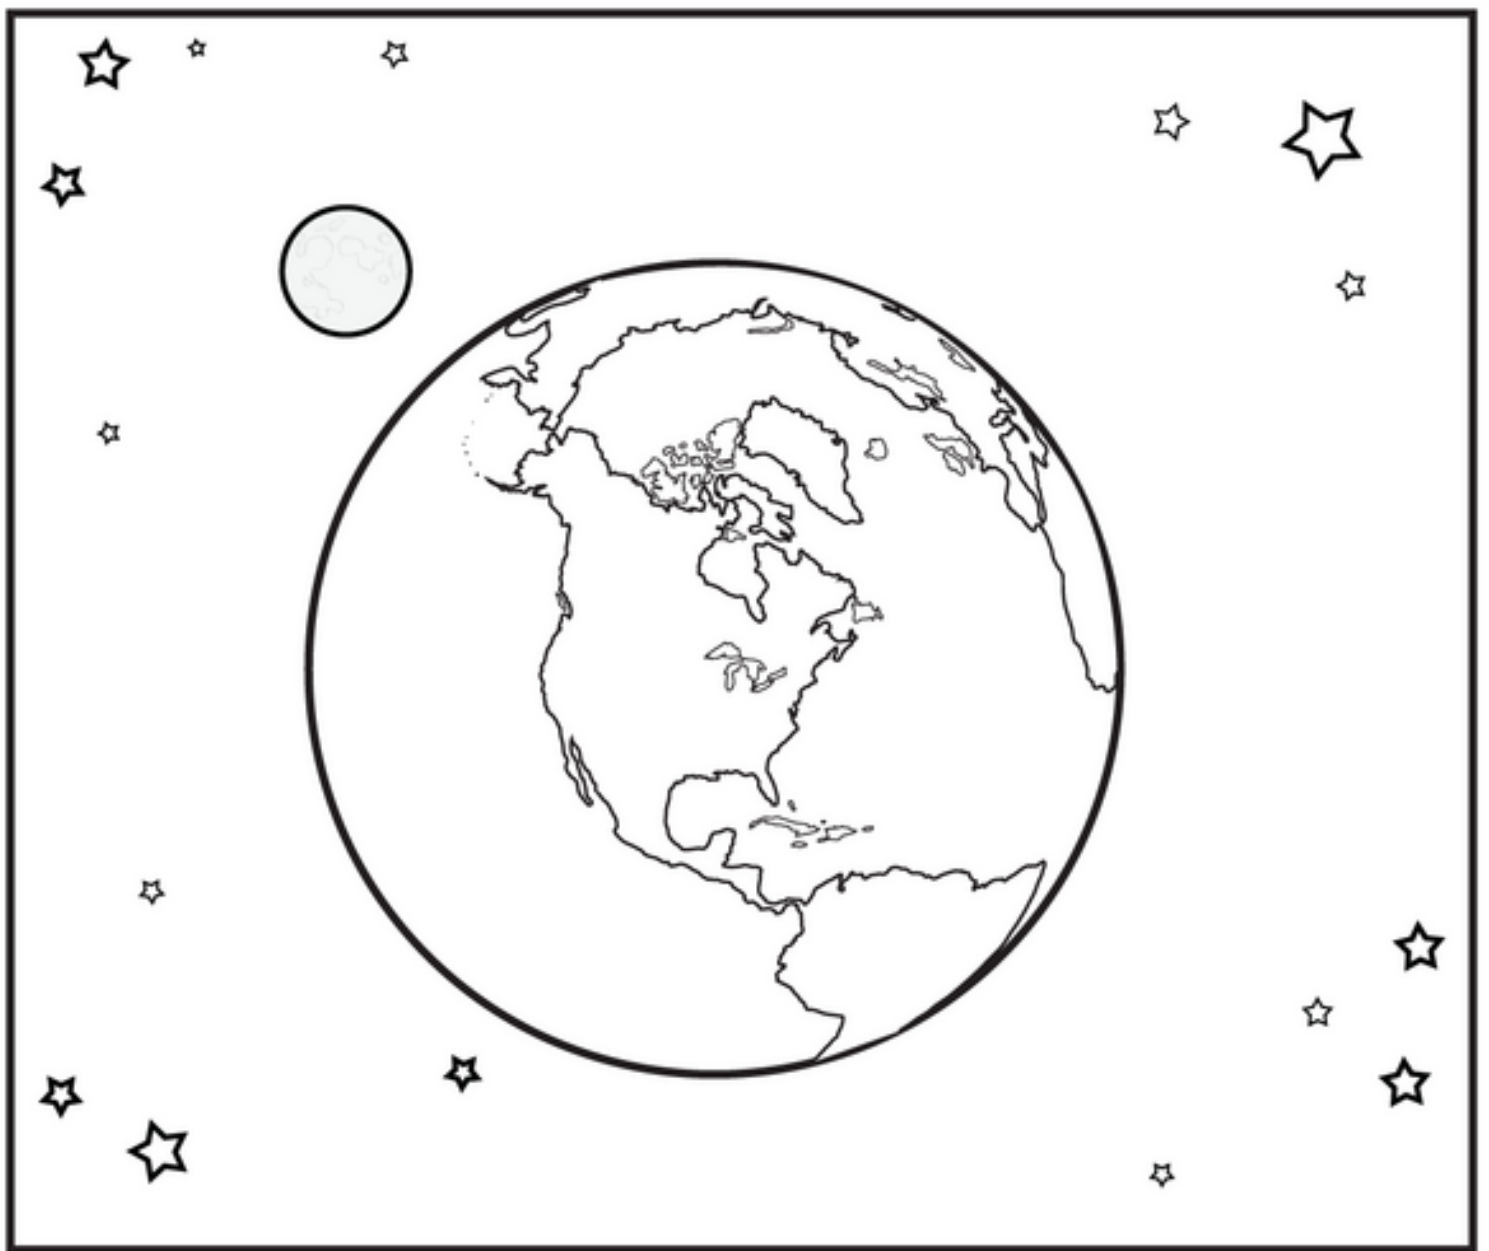

Which planet has a surface on which iron soil is spread?

Which is smaller than Earth and appears to be colored red?

Which planet has ice caps that grow and then recede?

Which planet is another rocky planet? It is Mars, indeed.

Which planet has many oceans, rivers, lakes, and seas?

Which planet is the only one with humans, plants, and trees?

Which planet is called “the Blue Planet” and is the third one from the sun?

Which planet do we live on? Yes, it’s Earth, and now we’re done!

1. Earth is also called what?

2. Which planet is farthest from the sun?

- a. Uranus
- b. Earth
- c. Mars
- d. Neptune

Answer: _____

3. Which planet is ten times bigger than the Earth?

4. Which planet is the brightest planet in our sky?

- a. Uranus
- b. Earth
- c. Venus
- d. Mars

Answer: _____

5. Which planet appears red?

6. Which planet has humans, plants, and trees?

- a. Uranus
- b. Earth
- c. Mars
- d. Neptune

Answer: _____